

SELF ADMINISTERED INJECTION WAIVER

The clinic that DBA's (Options Medical Weight Loss) has provided the information concerning self-administered injections, provided the self-injection guide and has answered all questions regarding administering an injection.

Initial

Injections expire 60 days after constitution. There is no refund for unused injections that have been taken from the clinic.

Initial

Injections that have been taken from the clinic may not be brought back for any reason unless they are in a sealed Bio-hazard container.

Initial

It is against the law to throw injections away in the regular garbage and they must be disposed properly. Injections must be placed in a Bio-hazard container to be picked up by a medical waste company. An affiliate that DBA Options Medical Weight Loss sells Bio-hazard containers for $9.99 plus tax and will dispose at no additional cost. The entire Bio-hazard container must be disposed.

Initial

HCG Injections must be refrigerated at all times. The hormone may lose potency if left out for too long.

Initial

Lipotropic Injections are sensitive to light and may lose potency if not stored within the amber bag or if they are left out in the light. Options Medical Weight Loss LLC or any affiliate that DBA Options Medical Weight Loss will not be responsible for any injections that have not been stored properly.

Initial

I have had the opportunity to discuss the nature and purpose of the medical treatments and other procedures with the doctor and/or office personnel. I agree to these procedures and intend to follow procedures during the duration of my treatment. I understand by taking my injections home, Options Medical Weight Loss LLC or any affiliate that DBA Options Medical Weight Loss is not liable for any consequences that may result from self-administering an injection.
